Task 1

- Watch this video to see a good example of persuasive speaking.
<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=eRLJscAlk1M>
- Think about... What techniques from the toolkit below did the speaker use? Did the speaker persuade you? How did they achieve that?

Task 2

- Practise your speech—your presentation to the judge which you wrote last week.
- When you are ready—perform your speech for another person. You could video it and send it to your teacher
- Evaluate your speech—What did you do well? What could you improve?

Space Perspective

UP, UP AND AWAY

VISITING outer space is still a distant dream for anyone who isn't an astronaut, but a day trip to the stars is already open for bookings!

A new company, Space Perspective, is planning uncrewed tests next year. If successful, reaching the outer edges of the atmosphere could be as easy as flying abroad in a few years' time.

The plan will be for a crew and up to eight passengers to travel in Neptune, a pressurised capsule attached to a balloon the size of a football stadium filled with hydrogen.

They will drift upwards right to the edge of space, 30km above the Earth. There, space tourists will be able to look back at the Earth and out to dark space and the sight of millions of stars. Although the price is yet to be fixed, the luxury flight, which will take six hours, is likely to cost more than £100,000. Because the capsule remains within the Earth's atmosphere, no special suits or training are needed. It means that older people or those with health problems won't be excluded.

One downside (apart from the price!) may be the method of landing back on Earth. The balloon drifts back down from the stratosphere until it splashes down in the sea. Passengers, crew, capsule and balloon are then recovered by ship.

Space Perspective will run tests from the Kennedy Space Center in Florida, but it has big plans to operate up to 500 flights from various sites across the USA by 2024.

The race to get tourists into space is hotting up. Neptune faces competition from the Stratollite, a balloon being developed by a company called World View Enterprises, while the super-rich Richard Branson, Jeff Bezos and Elon Musk are all pouring money into developing commercial space vehicles. The advantage of the balloon is that it will be cheaper than a space plane or rocket.

Space tourism may soon be a reality, but how visitors get there is still a very open question.

The Neptune capsule

MEET THE SLOTHBOT!

CONSERVING endangered animals could be helped by the arrival of the SlothBot.

Currently being tested before being put to work, the cute-faced robot designed by scientists at the Georgia Institute of Technology in the US will monitor animals and plant life. It is powered by solar panels and hangs on a wire suspended between two trees. The energy-efficient SlothBot moves slowly like a real sloth, collecting information such as the temperature, weather and the carbon dioxide levels of the area.

With its strong outer casing that protects the machinery inside, the SlothBot can be left in place for months, saving scientists years of field research.

A.I. ACTOR

AN Artificially Intelligent (AI) robot actor has been given a starring role in a $70 million movie (£56.4m).

Meet Erica, the AI star of a new sci-fi film, called b, which is about an artificially intelligent woman, also called Erica, who escapes from the lab that created her.

Usually, Erica's part might be played by a CGI character, or an actor in make-up. Instead, the film-makers decided to work with Japanese scientists Hiroshi Ishiguro and Kohei Ogawa to actually build a robot actor.

One of the visual effects artists behind the film explained just what that meant. "She was created from scratch to play the role! [We had to] control the speed of her movements, talking through her feelings and coaching character development and body language."
