Caravan Crushed!

The remains of the caravan found on Muggy Moss Road

Yesterday two boys narrowly escaped death when a pylon collapsed onto an old caravan they were playing in on Muggy Moss Road.

The two boys had been repeatedly warned about playing in this abandoned caravan due to the safety implications, however, the naughty boys had not listened to their wise parents and ultimately put their own lives in serious danger. The caravan in question was covered in thick moss and had been empty on Muggy Moss Road for several years.

The incident happened at 4.05pm yesterday during a tremendous storm. Rain lashed down and the sky was dark. Suddenly a strike of lightning hit an old rusty pylon causing it to wobble and eventually fall, crashing through the roof of the caravan.

Fortunately, when the pylon hit the caravan it caused the door to swing open, creating an escape route for the lucky boys.

They managed to carefully slide out and escape unharmed. They then had to return home to their parents and convince them that they had not disobeyed their instructions.

Janet a local resident claims that she had seen these boys playing at the bottom of Muggy Moss Road many times before, "I had repeatedly told them to stay away as it was unsafe, but I was always greeted with 'get lost you silly old woman' from these very rude boys! Their parents need to teach them some respect!"

The police officer who was first on the scene PC Plod reported, "these two boys were extremely lucky to be alive and should make sure that they listen to their parents in the future."

The pylon and caravan are now being removed and the area is going to be turned into a new shopping complex.

Use the text and split it into key sections in the boxing up grid. Remember you don't need to include every detail from each paragraph/ section just the key points.
